

Renewable Energy

Services Overview

Who We Are

BRITT RADIUS is a leading Land and Engagement services firm dedicated to helping organizations achieve compliance and acceptance. With operations spanning North America, our team has comprehensive experience serving renewable energy development.

We have niche and diverse talent with team members in Land, Stakeholder & Indigenous/Tribal Relations, Records Management, and Compliance. We offer our clients foresight and peace-of-mind, by eliminating obstacles and activating opportunities in both utility scale and distribution level projects.

Our Work

Our foresight ensures we are able to effectively guide clients through each stage of a project. Our service offerings are tailored for each individual client, and can easily be scaled up or down to meet changing project scope or deliverables. We know social risk is a material risk to projects. Through upfront planning we provide guidance and risk mitigation, increasing chances of project acceptance and success. From origination, construction, operations and maintenance, to end-of-life assessment, we offer strategic support for our client's renewable energy development.
